

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT DISTRICT OF NEVADA

RONALD ALEX STEVENSON,
#81847,

Plaintiff,

vs.

CHURCHILL COUNTY, et al.

Defendants.

3:14-cv-00137-RCJ-WGC

SCREENING ORDER

This pro se prisoner civil rights action by a Nevada state inmate comes before the Court for initial review under 28 U.S.C. § 1915A as well as on plaintiff's application (#1) to proceed in forma pauperis. The Court finds that plaintiff is unable to pay a substantial initial partial filing fee, and the pauper application therefore will be granted subject to the remaining provisions of this order.

Turning to initial review, when a "prisoner seeks redress from a governmental entity or officer or employee of a governmental entity," the court must "identify cognizable claims or dismiss the complaint, or any portion of the complaint, if the complaint: (1) is frivolous, malicious, or fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted; or (2) seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief." 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b).

In considering whether the plaintiff has stated a claim upon which relief can be granted, all material factual allegations in the complaint are accepted as true for purposes of initial review and are to be construed in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. See, e.g., Russell v. Landrieu, 621 F.2d 1037, 1039 (9th Cir. 1980). However, mere legal conclusions

1 unsupported by any actual allegations of fact are not assumed to be true in reviewing the 2 complaint. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 677-81 & 686-87 (2009). That is, bare and 3 conclusory assertions that constitute merely formulaic recitations of the elements of a cause 4 of action and that are devoid of further factual enhancement are not accepted as true and do 5 not state a claim for relief. Id.

6 Further, the factual allegations must state a plausible claim for relief, meaning that the 7 well-pleaded facts must permit the court to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct:

8 [A] complaint must contain sufficient factual matter, 9 accepted as true, to “state a claim to relief that is plausible on its 10 face.” [Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570, 127
 11 S.Ct. 1955, 1974, 167 L.Ed.2d 929 (2007).] A claim has facial 12 plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the 13 court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable 14 for the misconduct alleged. Id., at 556, 127 S.Ct. 1955. The 15 plausibility standard is not akin to a “probability requirement,” but 16 it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has 17 acted unlawfully. Ibid. Where a complaint pleads facts that are 18 “merely consistent with” a defendant’s liability, it “stops short of 19 the line between possibility and plausibility of ‘entitlement to 20 relief.’” Id., at 557, 127 S.Ct. 1955 (brackets omitted).

21 [W]here the well-pleaded facts do not permit the court 22 to infer more than the mere possibility of misconduct, the 23 complaint has alleged - but it has not “show[n]” - “that the pleader 24 is entitled to relief.” Fed. Rule Civ. Proc. 8(a)(2).

25 Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678.

26 Allegations of a pro se complainant are held to less stringent standards than formal 27 pleadings drafted by lawyers. Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972).

28 In the complaint, plaintiff Ronald Alex Stevenson seeks “pre-enforcement” declaratory relief as against Churchill County and Churchill County District Attorney Arthur E. Mallory.
 Plaintiff challenges purportedly the future enforcement of N.R.S. 200.710,¹ which prohibits

¹200.710. Unlawful to use minor in producing pornography or as subject of sexual portrayal in performance

1. A person who knowingly uses, encourages, entices or permits a minor to simulate or engage in or assist others to simulate or engage in sexual conduct to produce a performance is guilty of a category A felony and shall be punished as provided in NRS 200.750.

1 using a minor in producing pornography or as the subject of a sexual portrayal in a 2 performance. Plaintiff currently is held at Lovelock Correctional Center, which is in Pershing 3 County, Nevada.

4 Plaintiff acknowledges in the complaint that he currently stands convicted of violating 5 N.R.S. 200.710(2), after being convicted on June 30, 2004, in Churchill County in No. CR-
6 29440. Plaintiff alleges that his “subjects” were 16 years old.

7 Plaintiff alleges that the state supreme court’s construction of “minor” under N.R.S.
8 200.710 as an individual under 18 years of age is overbroad and violates his alleged First 9 Amendment right to produce sexual portrayals of 16 and 17 year olds. He further alleges that 10 N.R.S. 200.710 “fundamentally conflicts” with N.R.S. 200.730, which prohibits using the 11 internet to view actual or simulated sexual conduct depicting persons only “under the age of 12 16.” He seeks a declaration allowing him to produce without violating N.R.S. 200.710
13 depictions that he allegedly can use the internet to view without violating N.R.S. 200.730, i.e., 14 depictions of 16 and 17 year olds engaging in sex.

15 Stevenson alleges that “[a]fter incarceration, Plaintiff expressly intends to move back 16 to Churchill County and produce sexual portrayals of consenting individuals 16 years of age
17 and older as a non-commercial hobby if it is not illegal under NRS 200.710(2).” #1-1, at 4-B 18 (at electronic docketing page 6)(emphasis in original).

19 At the outset, plaintiff lacks standing to pursue the claims presented, as it is conjectural 20 at this point at the very least as to when plaintiff in fact will be back in Churchill County to 21 pursue his purported hobby. In order to establish the standing required for a justiciable case 22 or controversy, a plaintiff must establish, inter alia, that he has sustained an injury in fact. To 23 do so, he must establish the invasion of a legally protected interest that is (a) concrete and 24 particularized, and (b) actual or imminent rather than conjectural or hypothetical. E.g., Lujan

27 2. A person who knowingly uses, encourages, entices, coerces or permits a minor to be the 28 subject of a sexual portrayal in a performance is guilty of a category A felony and shall be punished as provided in NRS 200.750, regardless of whether the minor is aware that the sexual portrayal is part of a performance.

1 v. Defenders of Wildlife, 504 U.S. 555, 560 (1992). Plaintiff's assertion that he "expressly 2 intends" to move back to Churchill County and produce pornography with 16 and 17 year olds 3 "after incarceration" presents a conjectural rather than an actual or imminent injury. Such 4 allegations that a plaintiff intends to return to an area "some day" or "in the future" and 5 anticipates being involved in a controversy at that time fail to establish actual or imminent 6 injury. See, e.g., Summers v. Earth Island Institute, 555 U.S. 488, 495-96 (2009)(plaintiff had 7 visited many National Forests and planned to visit several unnamed National Forests in the 8 future); Lujan, 504 U.S. at 563-64 (plaintiffs intended, at some indeterminate time, to return 9 to countries that they had visited before and they allegedly then would be unable to observe 10 endangered species). As the Supreme Court stated in Lujan: "Such 'some day' intentions – 11 without any description of concrete plans, or indeed any specification of when the some day 12 will be – do not support a finding of the 'actual or imminent' injury that our cases require." 504 13 U.S. at 564 (emphasis in original).

14 Plaintiff presents an even more attenuated and conjectural circumstance given that he 15 could not reside in and pursue his purported hobby in Churchill County at present even if he 16 arguendo wanted to do so immediately. Even if plaintiff arguendo were serving a final 17 consecutive sentence, there is no guarantee either that he will be paroled outside prison walls 18 before the expiration of his sentence and/or that he first will accrue and then retain all possible 19 sentence credits that he theoretically might accrue in the interim.² Nor can plaintiff pursue his 20 purported hobby in the interim. Inter alia, there are no minors where he currently resides.

21 Plaintiff thus clearly lacks standing to pursue his purported "pre-enforcement 22 challenge" to N.R.S. 200.710.

23 Moreover, even if plaintiff could establish standing for a purported pre-enforcement 24 challenge, it is evident that his claims in all events are not cognizable in a federal civil rights 25 action while he stands convicted of violating the very same statute on allegedly the same 26

27 ²The Court discusses the particulars of plaintiff's sentencing structure, infra, with regard to the futility 28 of amendment.

1 factual basis. When a § 1983 plaintiff presents claims that necessarily challenge the 2 continuing validity of his confinement, then his claims are not cognizable in a civil rights action 3 no matter the relief sought or the target of the claims, so long as the claims necessarily imply 4 the invalidity of his confinement. Wilkinson v. Dotson, 544 U.S. 74, 82 (2005); Heck v.
5 Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477 (1994). A § 1983 plaintiff presenting claims that necessarily imply 6 the invalidity of his conviction first must establish that the conviction has been declared invalid 7 by a state tribunal authorized to make such a determination, expunged by executive order, 8 or called into question by the grant of a writ of habeas corpus. Heck, 512 U.S. at 486-87.

9 In this regard, under Iqbal, the Court is not required to accept at face value plaintiff's 10 legal conclusion that he is raising only a "pre-enforcement challenge" that does not 11 necessarily imply the invalidity of his current conviction. Obviously, under the allegations 12 presented, a declaratory judgment – even a "prospective" one – that N.R.S. 200.710 does not 13 or cannot constitutionally prohibit use of 16 or 17 year olds in pornography necessarily would 14 imply the invalidity of petitioner's current conviction.³ Plaintiff may not avoid the Heck bar 15 simply by superficially couching in future or prospective terms a claim that nonetheless 16 necessarily implies the invalidity of his current confinement. See, e.g., Edwards v. Balisok, 17 520 U.S. 641, 645-47 (1997)(key inquiry was not superficially whether the claims challenged 18 only the procedures used but instead was whether the challenge, regardless of the relief 19 sought, necessarily implied the invalidity of the plaintiff's current confinement). While a prayer 20 for prospective injunctive relief ordinarily will not necessarily imply the invalidity of current 21 confinement, the simple expedient of framing a challenge that necessarily implies the 22 invalidity of a current conviction instead as a request for prospective relief does not override 23 what the claim necessarily implies. See 520 U.S. at 648-69. This conclusion follows with 24 even greater force as to a request for purportedly "prospective" declaratory relief in such a 25 circumstance. See id. (finding claims for declaratory relief Heck-barred).

28 ³Plaintiff litigated – and lost – a substantially similar issue on direct appeal from his conviction, in No. 43706 in the Supreme Court of Nevada.

1 The Court therefore will dismiss the complaint for failure to state a claim upon which 2 relief may be granted. Plaintiff does not have standing in the first instance to pursue his “pre-3 enforcement challenge,” and, even if he did, his claims clearly are Heck-barred as they 4 necessarily imply the invalidity of his current conviction.

5 The Court finds that delaying final dismissal for leave to amend would be futile in the 6 context presented. First, plaintiff will not be able to establish the actual and imminent injury 7 required for standing for an indeterminate period of time of several years in duration. In this 8 regard, the Court takes judicial notice of plaintiff’s habeas matters⁴ in this District challenging 9 the same conviction and of the state supreme court’s online docket records. Plaintiff was 10 sentenced to, inter alia, three consecutive 60 to 155 month sentences. Even if plaintiff was 11 paroled on each sentence at the earliest possible juncture and he further both accrued and 12 retained all possible sentence credits, his earliest possible release date would not be until 13 June 2019. With no release possible for another approximately five years, plaintiff clearly can 14 present no actual and imminent injury in an amended complaint. Second, this action in all 15 events clearly is Heck-barred. Plaintiff’s effort to recast claims that inherently imply the 16 invalidity of his current conviction as a “pre-enforcement challenge” is specious.

17 IT THEREFORE IS ORDERED that the application (#1) to proceed in forma pauperis 18 is GRANTED, subject to the remaining provisions herein. Even if this action is dismissed, the 19 full $350.00 filing fee still must be paid pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2).

20 IT FURTHER IS ORDERED that the movant herein is permitted to maintain this action 21 to a conclusion without the necessity of prepayment of any additional fees or costs or the 22 giving of security therefor. This order granting forma pauperis status shall not extend to the 23 issuance of subpoenas at government expense.

24 IT FURTHER IS ORDERED that, pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2), the Nevada
25 Department of Corrections shall pay to the Clerk of the United States District Court, District 26 of Nevada, 20% of the preceding month’s deposits to plaintiff’s account (in the months that

5 IT FURTHER IS ORDERED that this action shall be DISMISSED without prejudice.
6 This dismissal shall count as a "strike" for purposes of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(g).

7 The Clerk of Court shall enter final judgment accordingly, dismissing this action without
